DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Species I, the embodiment of a fluid switch that uses magnets to seal a flow passageway that contains two anchors to stabilize the internal magnet when the external magnet has been removed as shown in Figures 1-3.

Species II, the embodiment of a fluid switch that uses magnets to seal a flow passageway that contain a single anchor to stabilize the internal magnet and close the valve when the external magnet is removed as shown in Figures 4-5.

Species III, the embodiment of a fluid switch that uses magnets has an internal magnet that is free to rotate under controlled magnetic forces and has grooves at one pole that allows selective flowing of fluid when the external magnet is removed as shown in Figures 6-9.

Species IV, the embodiment of a fluid switch that uses magnets and the internal magnet contains a recess that is filled with a semi-permeable material and can rotate in the housing and the internal magnet can be set in a full closed, full opened, or a selectively opened position as shown in Figures 10-12B.

Species V, the embodiment of a fluid switch that uses magnets and the internal magnet contains a one-directional bore that controls the direction of fluid flow depending on the orientation of the external magnet as shown in Figure 13.

Species VI, the embodiment of a fluid switch that uses magnets and external magnet is rotated causing the internal magnet to oscillate in the housing which produces a pumping effect as shown in Figure 14.

Species VII, the embodiment of a fluid switch that uses a catheter and has an internal magnet to close the catheter in the presence of an external magnetic field as is shown in Figures 15-18.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 1 and 29 are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

2. A telephone call was made to Elizabeth Morano on September 19, 2005 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Andrew J. Rost whose telephone number is 571-272-2711. The examiner can normally be reached on 7:30-5 M-Th and 7:30-5 every other Friday.
